Instead of making up new rules, why not enforce current rules: ie - no overnight parking on streets which, in my opinion, would include parking half in driveway and half on street. How about keeping yards maintained?

Other issues: imagine what possible buyer thinks when seeing unkempt yards, worn/tattered U.S. flags, trash cans left on street for 3-4 days (yes, trash was already picked up and trash cans remain on street), temporary fences placed beyond property lines, fences adjacent to the golf course (on people's property), dogs on the golf course, etc.

are aggressive dogs (those that have attacked ppl/other residents) allowed to remain? Are owners liable for dog that attacks not being on a leash?
